

TEN THINGS TO AVOID WHEN POSTING ONLINE¹

Social Media can be a very useful and interesting addition to your digital activities. Just be careful to use the same cautiousness with Social Media that you do with any other internet program. If you do start posting on Facebook or elsewhere, here are some recommendations.

1. Don't post if you don't have anything to say.
2. Don't pick a fight.
3. Don't post anything that can be used against you.
4. Don't post overly personal information.
5. Don't gripe.
6. Don't post personal contact information.
7. Don't post your constant whereabouts.
8. Don't post rumors, hoaxes, and/or Urban Legends.
9. Don't post pictures of people without their permission.
10. Don't post sensitive information.

1. Source: My Social Media For Seniors, (p24-29), Michael Miller. Copyright 2016 by Pearson Educators, Inc.

This book is available at the Maris Grove Computer Library Shelf (located in Newlin Point)